Recommended Readings for Parents

Traversing the years of adolescence is always challenging for those entering the realm of young adulthood. This journey, however, is not limited to teenagers. Parents, whether willingly or not, are also forced to cross this rather rickety bridge from childhood to adulthood right alongside their children. These sometimes tumultuous years are often guided by two burning questions to which fledgling adolescents and their parents are seeking answers: “Who am I?” and “Am I going to be okay on my own?” The success of this journey is intricately tied to parental guidance.

Listed below are several “guidebooks” to assist parents of burgeoning adolescents. While there are many available on the market, these are a few which we at IPA have found to be instrumental in understanding the adolescent:

With Boys in Mind:

Raising Cain: Protecting the Emotional Lives of Boys

By Dan Kindlon & Michael Thompson, PhD.

The Wonder of Boys

By Michael Gurian

The Minds of Boys: Saving Our Sons From Falling Behind in School and in Life
