

UPPER SCHOOL SUMMER READING REQUIREMENTS BY COURSE

Below are the summer reading requirements for the 2007-2008 school year. For new and continuing students who have yet to register, LR100 is a required freshman course and LR200 is a required sophomore course.

LR100

Bhagavad Gita

Students will be expected to discuss the reading and construct an in-class essay during the first week of the new school year.

LR200

Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglas.

Students will be expected to discuss the reading and construct an in-class essay during the first week of the new school year.

FL200 – Spanish 2

Cuentitos Simpaticos, Stories 1 – 15

Students will do the activities in the book relating to the readings over the summer in preparation for a series of quizzes during the first weeks of school.

FL300 – Spanish 3

Cuentos Simpaticos, Stories TBA

Students will do the activities in the book relating to the readings over the summer in preparation for a series of quizzes during the first weeks of school.

FA100

Marie, Dancing, Caroline Meyer, Harcourt, 2005

Students will be expected to write an in-class response during the first week of school.

FA200

The Moon and Sixpence, W. Somerset Maugham, Penguin, 1993

Students will be expected to write an in-class response during the first week of school.

Sciences & Math & PE

No summer reading